NEW!

Developing Excellence in Teaching, Learning and Assessment for NQTs

Applying the principles of cognitive science to the Newly Qualified Teacher's classroom

Course reference: 8340 Price: £299+VAT Timings: 10am - 4pm

Great teaching is about sensitivity and adaptation, about a warm interaction between a teacher and a student, and about adjusting to the here-and-now circumstances of the classroom. As such, there is no silver bullet but we can learn a lot from the field of cognitive science about how the brain works and, therefore, which strategies and techniques can deepen and strengthen our students' capacity for learning.

Course content

- Improve differentiation, stretch and challenge
- Improve the quality and effectiveness of assessment
- Expedite pupil progress through formative feedback
- Implement proven curriculum design strategies to make learning 'stick'
- Improve lesson planning to increase pupils' ability to 'transfer' their learning
- Develop a growth mindset culture in the classroom
